TMZ recently reported that Chris Brown was set to perform in Atlanta for Black Gay Pride weekend but never showed. C-Breezy aint here for the lies, the singer stated that he was never booked for the event and therefore didn't stand his fans up. Today Chris took to his Instagram to let off some steam and Harvey was his target. This isn't the first time Chris has blasted TMZ (Harvey) for reporting things that Chris states are not true.

From The Words Of Chris Brown.....

"Y'all gotta stop with this bullshit." "I was never booked. Y'all love to say I'm homophobic and shit to have something to be mad at. I don't care that you are gay Harvey. I applaud you and a person of your caliber should be finding outlets for young gay men/teens and women to be more open and comfortable about coming out. Some of my friends have came out to me and I love them just the same. It would really be a blessing if u focused on real issues. But all these false stories to bring your site traffic is comy. But find another person to drag through the mud of lies. I know I'm talented but I'm not running for president any time soon so fall back wit all the nonsense."

What the devil looks like in person. Lol. You sad little man. You've been trying for years to destroy me. It won't work. Your efforts are flattering. When you look back on your life when it's that time for you to depart, what can u actually say you've accomplished in life? Bringing people down and being the number one source for negativity. Life's too short homie. Find some sort of happiness. You are a grown ass man. God bless you bruh.
