

Did Somebody Say “New D’Angelo Album”?

Written by J HEEZ
Friday, 15 July 2011 05:00

Did Somebody Say “New D’Angelo Album”?

Ladies, it’s been a loooooong 11 years, but the wait is about to be over. Sources say that D’Angelo (yes, D’Angelo) is working on his first studio album since the year 2000. In attempt to earn ANOTHER Grammy, the platinum-selling artist has been hard at work in the studio, as recently as this week, with some industry heavy-hitters.

Peep ?uestlove’s tweet about the project’s status here:

<http://twitter.com/#!/questlove/status/90984448128073728>

Did Somebody Say "New D'Angelo Album"?

Written by J HEEZ
Friday, 15 July 2011 05:00

The image is a screenshot of a Twitter interface. At the top, there is a dark navigation bar with the Twitter logo on the left and search, home, profile, messages, and who to follow options on the right. Below this is a tweet from the user @questlove, who is verified and has the bio "Questo of The Roots". The tweet text, displayed in a yellow-green font, reads: "most people use midnight as a time to sleep. others are working on their 11 year followup. this of course being hour number one. #sqrntweet". Below the text are icons for favorite, retweet, and reply, along with the text "12 Jul via web". A large, semi-transparent watermark is overlaid across the bottom of the tweet area, reading "News picks Originals, D'Angelo's new album highlights D'Angelo, a former member of 'Woodie's All Stars'." The background of the tweet area shows a patterned curtain and a wooden surface.