Adam 'Pacman' Jones Arrested Wearing A Neckbrace

Adam 'Pacman' Jones was wearing a neck brace when he was booked into the Hamilton County Justice Center on Sunday. Jones said he just had surgery for a football injury, so it wouldn't have made sense for him to resist arrest. / Provided/Hamilton County Sheriff's Office

The Bengals cornerback was arrested outside of the Scene Ultra Lounge bar at 2:35 a.m. Sunday in the 600 block of Walnut Street on one count each disorderly conduct (while intoxicated) and resisting arrest.

Peter Schaffer, Jones' agent, said the following " Jones was out celebrating his wife's birthday with neighbors when another female threw a punch at Jones' wife. Jones walked up to police and said that he wanted to file charges.

According to accounts from other witnesses, Jones became upset as the woman was walking away and police became more concerned about him. After Jones uttered a couple of profanities at officers, police arrested Jones.

Schaffer went on to say "Jones volunteered to take a breathalyzer and that one was not given. "He did not do anything wrong. For him to go through this is a shame. He's doing the right thing by not taking the law in his own hands, Schaffer said. Adam has done a great job of changing his image and turning his whole life around. We will explore every possible legal action to make sure the right thing occurs.

Jones agent Schaffer is UPSET and say THEY just may press charges!! I need this NFL lock out to be OVER like right NOW!!! He would have been at camp!! Jones was released Sunday from the Hamilton County Justice Center.

He will be arraigned Monday in Hamilton County Municipal Court.

Well the Bengals cannot have any contact with Jones regarding this incident. Even with a lockout in place, NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell has said that the personal conduct policy still applies, which means based on prior history that Jones could be facing a suspension once the lockout is lifted if found guilty. YOU know how Roger is so Jones may face a stiff FINE behind some foolishness and an OVER zealous COP!! He probably use to get beat u as a kid.....Don't worry about it Pac-Man this sound like it isn't your fault-THIS TIME-LOL!!!

Jones was released Sunday from the Hamilton County Justice Center. He will be arraigned Monday in Hamilton County Municipal Court. Here's the video of Channel 9's interview with Jones outside the Hamilton County Justice Center when he was released.
